Kevin Leibensperger served as Senior Pastor of Trinity E.C. Church in Boyertown, Pa. for 22 years prior to being elected as the Thirteenth Bishop of the Evangelical Congregational Church in 2008. The E.C. Denominational Office is in Myerstown, Pa. His vision is for the church to become a missional people with a missional purpose - multiplying disciples and planting churches so that the world may be reached for Jesus Christ.

Bishop Kevin appreciates the challenge of communicating God's truth in relevant practical ways. He has served as guest speaker at Christian retreats, conferences and special events. He has been an adjunct faculty member at the Evangelical School of Theology in Myerstown and Prayer Coordinator for the E.C. Church. He enjoys family time with his wife Deborah and is the father of four adult children, Sarah, Peter, John, and James. His hobbies include reading biographies and military history, listening to music and building models. The family resides in Boyertown.

Kevin grew up in the suburbs of Reading, PA where he attended Grace E.C. Church. He made a personal commitment to Jesus Christ at age eleven at Twin Pines Church Camp. He is a graduate of Muhlenberg High School. Originally planning to pursue a career in law, he graduated with a degree in Political Science from Ursinus College having spent a year at St. Andrew's University in Scotland. During his first semester at Dickinson Law School he felt called into pastoral ministry and entered the Evangelical School of Theology from which he graduated in 1982. He was ordained in the E.C. church and served congregations in Slatington and Egypt, PA before coming to Boyertown in 1986. During that time the church experienced steady growth, went to multiple worship services, added to staff, and completed a major building project.
